Important Reminders
- The all-section syllabus is broken into 35 lectures; however, we have only 28 class periods (3 of which are midterm exams). Thus, on average each class should cover 35/25=1.4 lectures! It’s a lot of material and we will go very fast (three per week!).
- It is thus extremely important that you attend every lecture, AND read the textbook sections in advance, AND do every assigned homework on time.
- You are encouraged to work on the homework in groups; however, your submission has to be your own work. Also, make sure you fully understand it. Identical homework will be treated as cheating and may lead to a failing grade.
- You must show your work to receive credit (for both homework and exams).
